

Supporting different experience levels

As the number of tools grew, testing and feedback revealed that icons alone were not always enough, especially during high-speed scanning.

Clinicians requested the option to display tool names to ensure accuracy and confidence.

