

Understanding the clinical environment

The iTero Scan Page is the primary workspace clinicians use during real-time digital dental scans. It sits at the center of the scanning process and remains on screen throughout the procedure.

This is a time-critical environment. The patient is in the chair, the scanner is in hand, and clinicians shift attention between the patient, the scan, and the interface. Interactions need to be fast, precise, and require minimal cognitive effort.

